Sheridan College's Medical Transcription Program

- The Medical Transcriptionist (MT) curriculum is designed specifically for the person who wishes to gain the knowledge and skills necessary to transcribe digital medical dictation using the latest transcription equipment and/or adaptations.
- Medical transcription is a medical language specialty. A high level of fluency in the English language is required in order to interpret and transcribe dictation by physicians and other healthcare professionals.
- Medical transcriptionists work in hospitals, clinics, physician practices, and transcription services. Many work in their home as independent contractors and home-based employees.

Sheridan College Fact:
