

Residency Classification

For tuition assessment, students are classified as in-state, Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE), or out-of-state. Classification is made upon first admission to the District, in accordance with statewide residency requirements established by the Wyoming Community College Commission (WCCC) found in the WCCC Rules Chapter 3, Section 4.

Residents of a Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education (WICHE) state and Nebraska are eligible for WUE tuition. Requirements for in-state tuition purposes are established for Wyoming Community Colleges by the Wyoming Community College Commission. All others are considered out-of-state.

Residency classification is assessed for each student at the time an application for admission is accepted. Students may apply for residency reclassification for the following term when facts indicate a change impacting residency has occurred. Supporting documentation is required.

Applications for reclassification must be submitted on or before the first day of class. Reclassification will not be applied retroactively. Residing in Wyoming primarily as a student will not support a claim for resident status.
